

Proofreader for UNITY GAME (see SIMS VR/AR)

Who we are and what we do:

We, the international software company Avataris \(https://avataris.io\), are developing a game with Unity 3D, which, like "The Sims", focuses on interpersonal relationships, but at the same time uses maximum realism and state-of-the-art technologies. For example, the user experiences our game from the ego-perspective – optionally also in VR or AR – and has to deal with virtual avatars/characters that create the perfect illusion both optically and functionally (e.g. using AI, speech recognition, complex personality, procedural animations, physical hair and VR hand interactions, etc.). As part of our team, you would work with cutting-edge technologies and Unity's state-of-the-art achievements to push the boundaries of realism and create a breathtakingly beautiful game with unique depth and gameplay concept. Our market potential is enormous given the thematic niche, which means high chances of rapid advancement and salary increases for you. For the expansion of our remote team we are looking for a professional proofreader (English), supporting our striving to get the best talents available in the world-wide job market.

Tasks:

- Reading and correcting English dialogues, webpage and in-game-texts

Your skills/experiences:

- Native English speaker & experience with proofreading
- English studies, lecturer training or similar
- High language skills, eloquence and a passion for texts
- Good general technical understanding
- Fast and accurate way of working
- Motivated, self-organized, reliable and conscientious

The advantages of our job offer:

- Very flexible working hours and remote working (part-time working also possible, as long as the workload allows it)

Payment depending on your qualifications, but definitely a very attractive one, because we think that our top team also deserves a top salary. We also pay performance-based bonuses and try to meet all your expectations in order to create the ideal working conditions.
